A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Private aviation should feel effortless. Too often it does not. Quotes arrive late, details are lost between suppliers and nobody owns the outcome.

I founded Montrez to change that. When you travel with us, one person takes responsibility for your entire journey, from your first message to the moment you are home. You will always know the price, the plan and the person in charge.

This is the standard we hold ourselves to on every flight. I would be glad to show you what it feels like.
